

FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 7, 1902.

IMPERIALISM comes on apace. We are supposed to be governed by a Constitution and that Constitution gives no power whatever to Congress to pass any miral Schley's attorneys that Schley law punishing murder committed in a was in actual command in the battle State, nor indeed any other crimes except such as are provided for in the 8th section of its first article. Treason against the United States comes undoubtedly among those provided for, but that is plainly defined in section 3 ginia, were at the Civil Service Comof article 3, which says it "shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them ald and comfort." How then can even the murder of every officer of the government of every officer of th make even an assault upon the President, or any one in the line of succession to the presidency, a crime against the United States is therefore not only another attempt to invade the rights of the States, but the first step toward constituting a privileged class, which is one of the chief things against which the Constitution seeks to provide. It of Messrs. Agnew and Treat. is certainly "very English," but undoubtedly utterly un-American. We are just as much opposed to anarchy and anarchiets as it is possible for anybody to be, and we think that not only the assassination of the President and this possible successors should be punishable with death but aven an attribute the several bills shall shall with death but aven an attribute the considered in the Sensts and the order in which the several bills shall ishable with death, but even an attempt to assasinate; but so should a Beveridge on this important commissee like attempt upon the life of any citizsn, for the guilt of a crime lies in the a member of the steering committee in intention, not in the act. The Presizen, for the guilt of a crime lies in the ident is, as to his person, no greater than any other citizen; all citizens of the United States are equal before the law, under the Constitution. What then can be done? Let each of the States be requested to pass a law mak-States be requested to pass a law mak-States be requested to pass a law max-in the treaty of a plebescite of the ing an attempt upon the life of any-inbabitants of the islands. FROM WASHINGTON.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.

Washington, February 7. Mr. J. E. Clements, acting Commonwealth Attorney of Alexandria county and who has an office in this city, says he does not hear so much talk among his people now about reannexing Alex-andria city and county to the District of Columbia as he heard a few years since. He says he thinks the annexationists would be disappointed if the terri-tory was retroceded, that is if they believe the general government would spend much money in improving the land on the south side of the river, for this he is quite certain it would not do. He says the government since the war has owned Arlington estate, comprising eleven bundred acres of the best land in the county and with the exception of the cemetery and of the four hundred acres which were but recently set aside as an experimental farm and on which very little money is being spent, the rest of the land is in a worse and more neglected condition than any other land in the county. Mr. Clements argues that if the government for over thirty years has neglected to improve the property it owned outright in the county, there would be little prospect of its spending feasible, any money to improve the waster places of the whole county. He could have added that when the city of Alex-andria was in the District it was in a worse condition than it ever was before

There is no truth in the reports vired out from here last night that Admiral Sampson is unconscious and in a dying condition. This statement is made upon the authority of Dr. Dixon, Admiral Sampson's family physician. Dr. Dixon says that his tive service in the navy on Sunday upon which date he will be 62 years upon which date he will be 62 years of age. The consideration by the President of this argument will, it is thought, preclude the possibility of a verdict being reached upon the appeal of Admiral Schley prior to the President's departure for Charleston, S. C. The brief submitted today by Admiral Sampaon's attorneys, contend, as did the Navy Department that the question of command did not enter into the Navy Department that the ques-tion of command did not enter into the proceedings of the court of in-quiry and, therefore, Admiral Dewey went beyond the precept when he gave an opinion on this point. Claim is made that the New York, Admiral Sampson's fischip, was never out of signaling distance of the remainder of the fleet and was actually in the engagement before the end.

Mr. Theall, of Admiral Sampson's counsel, this morning filed with the President a long statement and argu-ment on behalf of Admiral Sampson, as opposed to the contention of Ad-

"This is a House committee" was Mr. Shat-tuc's warm response, "and we will frame the bill to suit the House," Later Mr. Taylor opposed the proposed increase of the head tax from $1 to $3, on the ground that the money thus collected was piling up and more was not needed. The sum of $500,000 was already on hand, "If you had obeyed the law," said Mr. Shattuc, "and spent this money for Ellis Island improvements, as contemplated, it would not hand now." Judge Brooke spoke for the minority report. He said the railrosds had a right to say to the State, "regulate our conduct, if wrong; supervise our busi-ness, but do not throttle us by taking actual possession of our property." Contending that this was the question at issue, the speaker proceeded to show wherein the majority report in effect took the management of their business out of the control of the transportation companies, and placed it in the hands of three men, who, io all probability, would not know, if they cared, how to manage it. Afterwards he outlined the minority with European powers.

In resource to a recolution offered

In response to a resolution offered several days ago by Mr. Rawlins, the Secretary of War transmitted to the Senate the sedition laws enacted by the Philippine Commission. They were read and immediately drew the fire of Philippine policy.

Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, express ed his astonishment that such laws should be enforced by the government authorities. Any American government, he declared, which should undertake to enact such a provision would be at once hurled from power. He characterized the Philippine statute as barch cruel and reprehensible. decision will not be so anti-Schley as characterized the Philippine statute as harsh, cruel, and reprehensible.

Mr. Foraker, of Ohio, had read from the revised statutes of the United States laws of Congress relating to the crime of treason and similar offences against the government, and said that the acts passed by the Philippine com mission were almost identical in their language with the laws enacted by Congress in the days of the fathers of the republic, and that there was nothing unprecedented or unusual about them.

At this point Mr. Tillman interrupted Mr. Foraker to denounce the sedition laws enacted by the Philippine tion laws enacted by the Philippine commission as "damnable doctrine."

"It might be in order," said Mr. Forsker, "to inquire of the Senator from South Carolina on which side of the struggle in the Philippines are his sympathies."

"My sympathies are with the Filipinoes," shouted Mr. Tillman, pounding his desk emphstically.
"Undoubtedly they are," retorted Mr. Forsker, "and such a flatfooted and unqualified declaration as the Senator has made would reoder the revised and doquatines declaration as the Sen-stor has made would reoder the revised statutes applicable to him if he were not protected by his position as Sen-ator."

Mr. Rawlins later interrupted Mr. Foraker with a question as to the sedition laws enacted by the Philippine commission, and in the course of his remarks said that Mr. Foraker had denounced the Senator from South Caro-

Mr. Foraker declined to yield further to Mr. Rawline, and declared hotly that he had not denounced Mr. Tillman. "We are in a fair way," said he, "to subdue the insurrection in the Philippine Islands, and we will accomplish that end if the Filipinos do not get too much encouragement from men in and out of Congress

Mr. Clay inquired of Mr. Foraker if he had delivered a certain address, from which he quoted a paragraph, and the Onio Senstir replied that he had.
"Does not the Senstir think," inquired Mr. Hoar, facetiously, "that hat u trance would render him liable under the laws against treason? "I think not," replied Mr. Forsker, in the same vein. "But if I were guilty of anything under that usterance, I am sure the Senstor from Massachusetts would have been hanged long ago."

"I do not want to be left out of that honorable coterie," interjected Mr. Till man.

"Well, we'll include you," said Mr.
Foraker, laughingly, "if you are anxious to be hanged."
Mr. Tillman said that he had seen a statement from General Chaffee that statement from General Chaffee that practically the entire Philippine population was imbued with a hatred of Americans. "In view of this statment," said he, "must we continue this in famous, tyrannical, British, South African—." Then, hesitating a few seconds, he continued: "I'll stop right there, because I cant't find a word hot

"The Senator from Ohio has subscribed to this law. He gives it his approval. He is a just and an honoiable man, and there are many other Senators who take his view of the question who are as honest as I and a great deal more able.

"The fact that they can approve such a law shows to what this whole terrible business is bringing us, how it is influencing our minds." In conclusion of the debate Mr. Hoar said that men might well differ on any of the great questions now before the country, but that all were thoroughly loyal to the country and were doing their duty as they saw it.
